NEWS FOR SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA COMMUTERS

MAY
2019

If you've ever thought about biking to work—or simply as far as your nearby bus stop or rail station—Bike Month is a great time to get started. Biking is a low-cost, zero emission way to get where you're going. Here's what's happening...

Free Rides

Bicyclists ride free

- On L.A. Metro bus and rail on May 16 (your helmet can serve as fare if you've stowed your bike);
- On Omnitrans on Saturdays throughout May.

Pledge to Win

- Bike to work at least one day in May in Orange County for a chance to win a Trek FX 2 bicycle or Fitbit 2—make the pledge at octa.net/bikemonth.
- In Ventura County, pledge to ride to work at least one day May 13-17 to win one of nine $100 VISA gift cards, goventura.org.

It's Bike Month!

Win Prizes, Ride Free, Join in the Fun

California commuters will cycle to work instead of driving.

- Stop along your bike commute at any of dozens of "pit stops" for refreshments and to rest and recharge. Check out the map of pit stops in L.A. County at metro.net/bike.
- Meet at the Orange Metrolink Station for a bike rally 7 – 9 a.m.,

then enjoy a 3-mile group ride, octa.net/bikemonth.

And More Bike Month Events...

- Cyclists can stop at a pit stop on May 14, 7-9 a.m. at the San Bernardino Transit Center for snacks and giveaways.
- Join Metrolink's Twitter party on May 14 from 5-6 p.m. for a chance to win a bicycle.

In Brief

Blue Line Update

The southern segment of the Metro Blue Line is scheduled to reopen on June 1. At that point, the four-month closure from the Compton Station to 7th/Metro Center will get underway, as well as a shorter closure of two Expo Line stations starting on June 22. Get details at metro.net/newblue.

Friday Nights on Metrolink—

Metrolink now offers late night round-trip service on Fridays between San Bernardino—Downtown and L.A. Union Station, metrolinktrains.com.
