Metrolink Saturday Train Service from Moorpark to Los Angeles Postponed Due to Coronavirus Pandemic

New Service Will Be Delayed Until Early Summer 2020

Ventura, Calif. – Saturday Metrolink train service from Moorpark to Union Station in downtown Los Angeles, which was set to launch this April, has been delayed until early Summer 2020 due to COVID-19, commonly known as the Coronavirus. The Ventura County Transportation Commission \(VCTC\), in conjunction with its regional partner Metrolink, has been closely monitoring developments related to COVID-19 alongside its regional partner Metrolink to determine the safest time to commence Saturday operations.

“After careful analysis and consideration, we have decided to postpone the launch of our Saturday train service,” said Darren Kettle, VCTC executive director. We look forward to launching this exciting service when community members can safely explore more of Southern California.”
